Licensing Agreement

Now for the not so fun part of creating designs for you to enjoy. Unfortunately the Licensing Agreement is something which must be included with all design packs to protect our product and to bring you more collections in the future. In short, please don't share, sell, copy, and/or edit the designs with the intent of repackaging them for sale. Sew Inspired by Bonnie owns the copyright to the designs, screen shots, and documentation included with this collection.

These designs are intended for home use. They may be used for personal use or gifts for someone else without issue.

You may also use the designs on items you wish to sell with a limitation of 50 items. If you wish to sell more items than 50 with any one design, you will need to contact us (at sewinspiredbybonnie@verizon.net) for permission. Use by companies or individuals for commercial purposes in quantities of more than 50 items for any one design is strictly prohibited unless prior consent has been granted in writing by Sew Inspired by Bonnie. Conditions do apply.

Many hours are spent planning, creating, and testing quality designs to produce a collection that you will enjoy. We hope to continue to produce quality designs and can only do so with your cooperation. Therefore, we ask you to please not share your design collection with your friends. Sharing is, in fact, stealing and is protected under copyright law.

Anyone caught sharing, copying, selling, or repackaging our designs will be subject to prosecution. If you have any information regarding individuals who have used our designs illegally, please let us know at the above-mentioned e-mail address.

Sew Inspired by Bonnie is not responsible for any damages incurred by the use of our designs. If your purchased designs are on a damaged CD-Rom, it will be replaced free of charge. If you have any issues with any of our designs, please send an e-mail stating your problem to: sewinspiredbybonnie@verizon.net.

Thanks!
