Design Color Sequence Chart

The color sequence below is only a suggestion; please feel free to select colors of your choice.

Important information-please read:

To ensure that the design will sew out correctly, it is extremely important that you read this information: different embroidery software will sometimes assign default colors to the embroidery designs and will also create different numbers of color stops or changes. Sometimes the colors that the software assigns do not match the color sequence that was provided for you. This is something that is beyond my control. It is best to disregard your computer and sewing machine screen and work with the color sequence that I provided for you.

Another thing that is extremely important is to not sort the colors with your software.

I suggest sewing out a sample of the design on the fabric that will be used for your project. This way you can be sure you like the colors of thread you have chosen and become familiar with the colors for the design.

I used Robison-Anton poly thread for this design. See below for color sequence.
